

Alice described her life growing up as a Jewish girl during the First World War in Austria, and then during the Second World War, when her husband was imprisoned by the Nazis. They managed to escape to friends in England with their young daughter. Now aged 105 years old, her inspirational story was very well received by an appreciative audience.

